

The eastern army seem to indicate that the Bulgarians around Adrianople are still developing the turning movement. A dispatch from that city says the commander of the Turkish forces has issued a proclamation declaring that the troops of the garrison have heroically accomplished the mission required of them and have now withdrawn inside the fortifications, which they are prepared to defend with the courage demonstrated by their fathers at Plevena. According to information from reliable sources, the Sultan has expressed the desire to accompany the general to the front in order to encourage and inspire the troops by his presence. At an extraordinary council held at the palace all the leading statesmen advised the Sultan to relinquish this plan.

Eight per cent of the officers who participated in the fighting on October 22-23 were killed or wounded. The Turkish eastern army is stretched out between Viza and Adrianople, and is engaged in checking the advance of the Bulgarians who are trying to push back the Turks, and at the time to cut the communication with Constantinople.

No reports were received to-day regarding the position of the western army, telegraphic communication with Uspuk and Saloniki having been cut. As a consequence the embassies are without information from the consulate communication with Adrianople is working comparatively well, although the embassies' cipher telegrams are not accepted.

An official dispatch from Adrianople yesterday says there was no fighting in that neighborhood on the previous night or that day.

Greeks Received With Joy

Athens, October 27.—Crown Prince Constantine, in a message from Kos, to the northwest of the town of Servia, says: "When we entered the town to establish headquarters there, the inhabitants, including the school children, lined the streets, cheering, waving flags and throwing laurels upon the soldiers. We were conducted to the cathedral, where a Te Deum was sung."

From Arta it is reported that Turkish and Albanian bands are following the Turkish army, pillaging Christian villages and massacring the inhabitants. They have burned several villages.

The King arrived at Ellassona to-day and was the recipient of a great ovation. He visited the hospital, and thanked the wounded for their services to the fatherland. He also visited the cathedral, where the metropolitan greeted His Majesty as the King Liberator. In the evening the King proceeded to Servia.

Will Resist Intervention

London, October 27.—It is rumored that Kiamil Pasha will be summoned to the grand vizierate, says a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Telegraph. At an extraordinary grand council at the palace yesterday not only members of the Cabinet were present but Senators and chief religious dignitaries and military officers.

The military situation was discussed for five hours, and it was decided to resist the idea of intervention by the powers and to continue to prosecute the war with the utmost vigor.

TAFT'S CALAMITY HOWL DISCOUNTED

Republicans Ridicule Prophecy That Wilson's Election Would Mean "Rainy Days."

BENEFITS OF FREE SUGAR

Spreckels Claims All Trades Would Grow by Creation of Bigger Demand.

New York, October 27.—President Taft's recent prophecy that Governor Wilson's election would mean "four years of rainy days for labor" is ridiculed by a large number of widely known business men, all of them Republicans and extensive employers of labor, in statements to the Wilson National Progressive Republican League. These men declare not only would the industries of the country suffer no setback, but, on the contrary, the business world already feels the stimulation of confidence in Governor Wilson's ability to restore conditions to their normal state.

Claus A. Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, long trust, declares that as advocated by the last Democratic House of Representatives, would be a decided benefit to the laboring man, in that it would mean more consumption of sugar in several industries and more work.

He says in answer to President Taft: "Governor Wilson's election would not mean 'four years of rainy days for labor.' I have seen a great deal of evidence recently which tends to prove that labor in the United States does not receive any benefit from our high protective tariff. Certainly I know that if the bill passed by the Democratic House at the last session of Congress, placing sugar on the free list, had become a law it would have reduced the wages of the laboring man in our sugar refinery. On the contrary, labor would have been much benefited, because of larger business resulting from increased consumption, to the fact that the removal of the tariff on sugar would reduce the price nearly 2 cents per pound. This would not only apply to us. Shipment of sugar now constitute about one-third of the total westbound traffic out of New York. When sugar was placed on the free list in 1891 consumption increased in one year about 23 per cent. Consider what a boon this increased business would mean to jobbers, retailers and transportation companies handling sugar, and you will readily appreciate that in each case the laboring man would be the chief beneficiary."

"But the reduction of the tariff on sugar would not end with the direct benefits derive by consumers; it would also widen the market for American canners, preservers and other industries in which sugar is an important factor. A market reduction in the sugar tax would enable our canners to increase their export, thus creating a demand for the fruits, berries, etc., of the farms which now go to waste for lack of a market. It would increase the demand for all as tin plate, glassware, labels, cases, etc."

James C. O'Connor, president of the Pullman Motor Car Company, of York, Pa., says: "I do not bank much in prophecies made before election, and therefore do not place much credence in Mr. Taft's four years of rainy days for labor. Although I am a manufacturer and believe in the protection of American labor, nevertheless I am a 'doubting Thomas' as to the benefits to be derived from the so-called 'protective tariff.' It seems to me that the tariff has nothing whatsoever to do with labor."

From the People's National Bank of Pittsburgh this statement comes: "It must be accepted as fortunate that the present business activity is co-existent with a presidential election, and that there is no sign of abatement even in the midst of the most strenuous campaign ever waged within the memory of the elder class of voters. That business has continued to forge ahead, ignoring the political outlook, emphasizes the fact that prosperity is less dependent upon the party policies than the old-time partisans would have the people believe, and that the sum of natural economic factors outweighs in importance all platforms and oratorical fulminations based thereon. The effect should be less reliance upon statute-made curatives and more reliance upon the bounty of nature and the industry of the individual."

WHITE PLAGUE IS SOCIAL PROBLEM

Fight Against Disease Urged From 100,000 Pulpits Throughout Land.

New York, October 27.—Sermons to stir churchgoers to realize that the white plague is as much a social as a medical problem, and to arouse them to practical efforts to stay the disease, were preached from probably 100,000 pulpits in churches of every denomination throughout the land to-day.

It was the annual observance of "tuberculosis day," statistics showing that 20,000 people die every year from the disease in this country, and that this total means a death every three minutes were used to impress the congregations with the seriousness of the situation. In some instances medical authorities were invited to take the pulpits to reinforce with scientific views the more abstract arguments of the pastors.

In this city, where 13,000 persons die of tuberculosis every year, pastors of more than 400 churches dealt with the problem vigorously, and exhorted their congregations to active work. "We are not to believe that God fixes the death rate," declared Percy Stickney Grant, at the Church of the Ascension. "Principally the people who rent out bad tenements and keep men and women at work under unhealthy conditions are responsible for fixing the death rate."

VAUGHN CAUSES THREE ARRESTS

Charges That Officers Assisted Him in Escaping From Jail.

Greenville, S. C., October 27.—Upon the statement of Thursday U. Vaughn, who confessed to consulting five little girls in the Odd-Fellows' Home, and at the instigation of Governor Cole L. Blease, Jeff D. Gilreath, inspector of police and former sheriff, ex-Jailer A. A. Phillips, of the city police, and Reuben Gosnell, a magistrate's constable, were arrested to-night on warrants charging them with assisting Vaughn to escape from the county jail last June. The three men were hauled through the streets of Greenville to the jail, where they were incarcerated for an hour or more. Five substantial business men, commanding more than a million dollars cash, later rushed to the jail from their respective churches, together with hundreds of other citizens, who crowded about the prison and clamored as to who should be the first to sign bond for $1,000 for each of the prisoners. Feeling is intense to-night, and excitement is running high, and it has at any time during the past few days of sensational happenings in Greenville.

The warrants were drawn up late in the afternoon, and just before night were signed by Magistrate Samuel Stradley and placed in the hands of Sheriff-Elect Hendrix Rector for service. Gilreath was arrested and rushed to jail through Main Street, a tremendous throng gathering and racing behind the vehicle. He and the other officers were placed in a cell with the common prisoners.

FAIL TO AGREE

Knapp and Neill Are Asked to Name Arbitrator.

Atlanta, October 27.—Fred Burgess, assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and C. A. Wickersham, president of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad, arbiters in the Georgia Railroad strike, to-day failed to reach an agreement on the choice of the third member of the arbitration board. A telegram was sent to Judge Knapp, of the Commerce Court, and Charles F. Neill, federal mediator, asking them to name the third man.

The dispute between Mr. Burgess and Mr. Wickersham came after their time had been extended beyond that allowed under the Erdman act.

Questions relative to the reinstatement of Paschall and Morgan, whose discharge by the railroad precipitated the strike, remain to be settled by the arbitrators. An agreement to end the strike was reached about two weeks ago.

MANY RALLIES IN CLOSING WEEK

Boston, Mass., October 27.—National and State campaigns in New England enter upon their last full week before the election with representatives of all parties actively concerned in getting out the vote for November. In Rhode Island, Vermont and Maine, most of the campaigning so far has been by the Progressives, but the other parties have arranged for many rallies in the closing week. On the other hand both Massachusetts and New Hampshire have experienced very lively times politically. Nightly rallies are being held in many sections of New Hampshire. Thus far Rhode Island has had one of the quietest State campaigns in many years, despite the fact that all three parties have complete State and congressional tickets in the field.

Governor Johnson, of California, will be heard in Maine this week going East as far as Bangor to all some of Colonel Roosevelt's speaking dates.

RESUMES ITS TRIP UNDER OWN STEAM

The Berkshire, Damaged by Fire, Starts for Philadelphia.

Beaufort, N. C., October 27.—The Merchants' and Miners' steamship Berkshire, from Savannah for Philadelphia, which put into Lookout Cove, N. C., a week ago to-day with fire in her cotton cargo, went to sea under her own steam and without convoy late to-day. It was understood that she would touch at Norfolk on the way to Philadelphia.

Twice after the flooded hold of the Berkshire was pumped out fire broke out anew in the cotton. It was extinguished with little difficulty, however. The passengers of the delayed liner, after being held prisoners several days aboard the steamer and on the revenue cutter Seminole, went North by rail from Beaufort.

No Report at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., October 27.—At 5:40 o'clock to-night the steamer Berkshire had not passed in the Virginia Capes. Nothing is known locally about the fire reported aboard the steamer. According to a statement made by the local agent of the Merchants' and Miners' Line, the Berkshire is bound for Philadelphia, under her own steam, and should arrive there late to-morrow afternoon.

read, for to read all of them would be to give up all other work, shows that the people are seriously studying the question. It is a question that requires serious study. There are several different forms of co-operative credit. The small co-operative societies of which I have just spoken, for instance, are quite different from the mortgage bond societies which are designed for larger loans and for longer periods, and would be the means of securing to the farmers the money necessary to the permanent improvement of their lands.

"But where such interest is exhibited, it is certain that study will follow, and I have every hope of seeing intelligent and wise opinions, based upon the facts of the situation, for the adoption of the different forms of co-operative credit."

FEDERAL THEORY IS DISCREDITED

Bridgeport, Conn., October 27.—Captain Arnold, of the Detective Bureau, and State Policeman Virelli, who are endeavoring to fathom the mystery in the shooting of the woman known as Jennie Rotondo by Joe Buonomo near Stratford last week, discredit the theory of Chicago Federal officials that the murdered woman was a government spy. They say the woman's record and her actions before and on the night of the shooting would sufficiently prove that she was not in the government employ.

Virelli returned from New York to-day, where he has been investigating. The woman's real name, he says, is Jennie Rotondo, widow of Achille Rotondo, who died in New York September 24, 1911. Her maiden name was Elanellina. Her name was established from her marriage license, which was procured in New York. According to the police, Joe Buonomo, or "Chicago Joe," as he is more familiarly known, has confessed that he is the man who tried to shoot Chief Bromage, of the Thompsonville police, on January 2 last.

St. Petersburg, October 27.—Crown Prince Alexis passed a good day, according to a bulletin issued by his physicians. His temperature is 100, pulse 120.

Caused by a Fall.

Paris, October 27.—The marshal of the court of Russia, in reply to an inquiry regarding the condition of Crown Prince Alexis, sent the following message from Spala to-day:

"An accidental fall suffered by the hereditary grand duke will keep His Imperial Highness in bed for some time still. You can place entire confidence in the statements of the official bulletins."

CATS CONDEMNED AS DISEASE CARRIERS

Chicago, October 27.—Domestic animals are declared to be disease carriers by the weekly bulletin of the Chicago Department of Health issued yesterday.

Fondling the meek, old family cat may plunge the fondler into rabies, infectious and infantile paralysis or diphtheria, the bulletin says, and the faithful watchdog may bring upon his master or mistress dire communicable diseases. Even the parrot from its noisy perch is found to be a conveyor of bacteria.

Although not many families to whom the health bureau bulletin is mailed are believed to be in danger from faulty sanitation, the bulletin points to parasitic dangers lurking in these animals.

POLICE PATROL HAVANA STREETS

City Is Under Absolute Military Protection Against Disorders.

TROOPS READY TO RESPOND

Reported That Agreement Has Been Reached to Suspend Political Meetings.

Havana, October 27.—While not actually under martial law, the city of Havana is now under absolute military protection against disorders arising from the heated political campaign. In accordance with orders issued by General Pablo Mendiolita, who yesterday was appointed by President Gomez to take charge of all the police and military forces in the capital, the streets were patrolled to-day by police and mounted and foot rural guardsmen. In addition detachments of regular troops of all arms were stationed at various strategic points, ready to respond instantly to a call to suppress rioting.

The principal centre of armed forces was the foot of Monserrate Street, where there was an encampment in the park of several squadrons of cavalry and a battery of machine guns fully equipped for field service, while other detachments were held in readiness at Atraz Castle, La Ferusa and Vedado, all within easy distance of any part of the city.

Conferences held last night between government officials and leaders of the political parties with the purpose of arriving at an agreement to suspend all political meetings failed of the desired effect. Several large meetings were held to-night. The military precautions, however, were effective in checking all symptoms of disorder.

It was reported to-night that an agreement had been reached between General Menocal and Alfredo Zayas to suspend all political meetings from now until the election, and also that assurances have been given by the partisan press that they will refrain from exciting utterances and avoid all ground for hostile collisions on election day.

ARRESTS OIL PROMOTER; HE CHARGES KIDNAPPING

Organizer of $15,000,000 Concern Is Being Taken to Pittsburgh by Detective.

Los Angeles, Cal., October 27.—James C. Yancey, promoter of oil concerns capitalized at $15,000,000, is speeding arriving at Pittsburgh, a prisoner, charged with the embezzlement from J. W. Bell of $1,900.

Yancey was arrested on a Governor's warrant, and two hours later he was on an eastbound train protesting that he was being kidnapped.

Detective George H. Waggoner, of Pittsburgh, had requisition papers signed by the Governor of Pennsylvania and Acting Governor Wallace, of California, is head of several oil concerns. He acquired much publicity a year ago with the announcement that he had for sale a species of hogs with mule heads, and that the hogs were immune from cholera.

RUNS AUTO OVER HIMSELF.

Toy Inspired in Boy Lungs Which Proved Fatal.

New York, October 27.—On his seventh birthday, not long ago, Willie Garago of the Bronx, received a toy automobile. Willie was anxious to try to run a real automobile, but the opportunity did not come till yesterday, when an electric train stopped in front of a butcher shop near Willie's home. As the chauffeur entered the store Willie climbed to the truck. Then he extended one trembling hand to the starting lever and pulled the lever all the way up.

The machine shot forward at good speed. The lad's face showed his terror. He became panic-stricken and, blinded by his fear, leaped out in front of the machine and fell. Before he could scramble to his feet, the wheel crushed him to death. The truck was stopped after it had run a block.

Borders on Martial Law.

El Paso, October 27.—A condition bordering on martial law exists here and at other points on the frontier. General E. Z. Steever, who from Fort Bliss, Texas, directs the American troops along the border, is said to have orders from Washington more strict than ever before in the last two years of Mexican revolutions.

It was learned on reliable authority that arrests may now be made by military for offenses previously handled by the secret service and tried in Federal courts. It was declared that any movement to arm rebel filibustering expeditions on American soil probably would result in a declaration of martial law over the strip along the international line between Los Angeles and San Antonio.
